Contract data feeds

The contract administration process is complicated

Our contract data feeds solution helps to minimize the complexity of the challenge to maintain and track contracts that health systems must maintain to meet sourcing needs.

A single point of truth for managing contract data

Efficient data management requires a central repository to ensure a single source of truth. Loading all your contracts into the Vizient® Catalog eliminates offline analysis that results from fragmented data files.

In addition to the national contracts that we manage, you gain visibility into one feed of data, when you load local, custom, and aggregation agreements into the Vizient Catalog.

The contract administration process is complicated

Contract management is a complex, resource-intensive and error-prone process. At any given time, a health system may be actively maintaining 300-500 contracts with different expiration dates, variations in tier requirements, product adds/deletes and price changes, all of which require regular analysis to evaluate the effect of these changes.

Consistent up-to-date information that facilitates best practices.

We can help optimize and distribute your data feed via an automated streaming process. Our contract data feeds deliver up-to-date contract, product and pricing information to refresh your enterprise resource planning (ERP) system.

Two levels of service

1. Members can elect to receive a daily feed of the latest contract data from the Vizient Catalog to help simplify and manage pricing accuracy from local, custom, aggregation and national agreements.

2. For members who do not opt to load local agreements into the Vizient Catalog, we offer Catalog Services to provide a full-service contract data feed integration with ongoing support. This service gives members all the benefits of the one-time setup and includes additional features like updating local contracts, updating distribution mark-ups, proactive management of aging tier requests and facilitation of communications between suppliers and distributors to improve price alignment.

Why this solution works

Simplicity	Accuracy	Integration
Automated feed eliminates the need to manually export from Vizient Catalog one contract at a time. Receive a daily replacement file to load into your ERP system.	Once enrolled, receive new contracted products and pricing that allows users to obtain "near real" updates to price changes from Vizient Catalog.	Our contract data feeds work well with the Vizient DataLYNX solution and collaborates with other third-party ERP systems or data warehouses for direct data delivery
