

PRODUCT DISRUPTION BRIEF

Hemodynamic monitoring – CCO catheters (updated June 12)

Edwards prolonged backorders on Swan-Ganz CCO catheters resolved; recovery is complete.

Current conditions

Edwards Lifesciences is no longer experiencing supply disruptions for Swan-Ganz Continuous Cardiac Output (CCO) and recovery is complete.

The supply interruption was limited to the following catheters that provide continuous cardiac output:

Model Code	Description
774F75	Swan-Ganz Continuous Cardiac Output Thermodilution Catheter (CCO/SvO2/CEDV catheter)
777F8	Swan-Ganz Continuous Cardiac Output Thermodilution Catheter (CCO/SvO2/CEDV/VIP catheter)

In addition to these catheters, Edwards Lifesciences also provides a large portfolio of Swan-Ganz catheters with intermittent cardiac output (ICO) technology. These catheters monitor intracardiac pressures, cardiac output, SvO2, and are used for infusing solutions.

The ICO catheters are not impacted by supply constraints and may be used to obtain cardiac output measurements.

Mitigation strategy

For additional support, please call your local representative or contact Edward's support team at swan_questions@edwards.com or 1-888-352-0904. Or reach out to Terry Throm 412-418-8720 terry_throm@edwards.com

Healthcare providers may also access the Swan-Ganz catheter resource center at any time at www.Edwards.com/SwanGanz. This resource center includes set-up guides, The Quick Guide to Cardiopulmonary Care, information about hemodynamic parameters, links to YouTube videos, and more.
